"Je me considère moi-même comme un guerrier" : rencontre avec Leiji Matsumoto, créateur d'Albator

11/03/19 15h56

Invité d'honneur au Monaco Anime Game International, le dessinateur âgé de 81 ans ne cesse de prôner son amour à la liberté. Portrait.

"Albator, Albator, du fond de la nuit d'or." Il suffit de lancer le générique de la série animée dans une convention geek pour que des nombreux quadras et trentenaires se mettent à scander le nom du plus célèbre corsaire de l'espace. Le pirate balafré (appelé "Captain Harlock" au Japon) fête en 2019 ses cinquante ans d'existence. Le grand public connaît mieux le commandant de Death Shadow que son créateur Leiji Matsumoto. Le dessinateur fait partie des maîtres de la science-fiction des années 70 avec des mangas inoubliables comme Galaxy Express 999, Queen Emeraldas et bien sûr Albator. Portant un éternel bonnet noir pour empêcher ses cheveux blancs de le gêner quand il travaille sur ses planches, Leiji Matsumoto dégage une vitalité à toute épreuve. "J'ai décidé d'ajouter une petite tête de mort de pirate à mon bonnet que j'ai colorié en rouge pour signifier que je suis toujours vivant", raconte-t-il avec malice dans un hôtel de la principauté monégasque mise à disposition par la Shibuya Productions qui organise l'événement.

Game of Thrones: les secrets de la série racontés par le dessinateur William Simpson

© 18/03/2019 à 10h26

Le dessinateur William Simpson, chargé des storyboard de Game of Thrones, raconte les coulisses de la série à succès.

Il a conçu les armes de la série, le design des Marcheurs blancs et s'est chargé du storyboard d'une grande majorité des saisons. Le dessinateur William Simpson est un rouage essentiel de Game of Thrones. Il a réalisé l'intégralité du storyboard des cinq premières saisons, avant de partager la tâche avec une poignée d'autres dessinateurs lorsque les saisons suivantes ont pris plus d'ampleur. Nous l'avons rencontré, à l'occasion du 5e salon MAGIC à Monaco, organisé par la société Shibuya Productions. A quelques semaines du lancement de l'ultime saison, il revient sur les coulisses de la série à succès de HBO.

Highlander : Christophe Lambert se souvient de sa rencontre avec Freddie Mercury et le groupe Queen

Par Propos recueillis par Clément Cusseau à la convention MAGIC le 9 mars 2019 — 11 mars 2019 à 19:15

Présent ce week-end à la convention monégasque MAGIC, Christophe Lambert est revenu pour nous sur sa collaboration avec Freddie Mercury lors du tournage du film "Highlander", dont Queen a signé l'émblématique bande-originale.

Who Wants to Live Forever, A King of Magic, Princes of the Universe... Plus que de simples chansons de Queen, ces tubes ont formé la bande-originale du film Highlander. Présent à la convention monégasque MAGIC ce week-end, son interprète principal Christophe Lambert s'est ainsi souvenu à notre micro de sa première rencontre avec le groupe de rock et son emblématique chanteur, Freddie Mercury. "Ça s'est mal passé, car j'avais cinq heures de retard au rendez-vous à cause notamment d'un retard d'avion. J'étais contrarié, mais au final ce n'était pas grave, puisque le groupe a eu quinze heures de retard !"

Un souci de ponctualité, qui n'aura eu fort heureusement aucune incidence sur la suite des événements, bien au contraire. "A l'origine, Queen ne devait signer que la chanson d'ouverture du film, Princes of the Universe, nous explique Christophe Lambert. Mais ils ont tellement aimé le film qu'ils ont décidé de faire toute la B.O. Ils ont tout écrit et enregistré en quatre semaines. Et d'ailleurs, on peut entendre Who Wants to Live Forever dans Bohemian Rhapsody, au moment où Freddie Mercury apprend qu'il a le sida."

地中海で日本のゲーム・アニメ・漫画を味わう——ファンの夢を叶え続ける男にインタビュー

BI ブラックマーケット 日本のポップカルチャーに憧れたフランス人が立ち上がり、同世代の子供の頃からの夢を実現し続ける

BY クラベ・エスラ あなたはモナコ公国に対して、どんなイメージをお持ちだろう？ 地中海の美しい海岸、テラスで飲む白ワイン、ブラックジャック台の上に置かれる大量のカジノチップ、そんなところだろうか。僕の3日にわたるモナコ滞在はゲーム、漫画、アニメ、コスプレ、そんな物事で彩られていた。それはあなたがイメージした通りのモナコではないのかもしれない。だが、ポップカルチャーファン向けイベント「MAGIC Monaco 2019」の取材旅行は僕にとって、一生記憶に残るものとなった。

「実を言うと、最初はただ会社の設立を記念する食事を開いただけでした」とMAGIC Monacoの主催者であるセドリック・ビスカイは話した。

セドリック・ビスカイ。

ビスカイがCEOを務めるSHIBUYA PRODUCTIONSは、このモナコにある。その名前からもわかるように、日本と深い関わりのある会社だ。

「SHIBUYA PRODUCTIONSは広い意味でプロダクション会社です。『鉄腕アトム』のリポートや『COBRA Return of Joe Gilian』といった人気アニメシリーズの復活、『サッドヒルを掘り返せ』というドキュメンタリー映画（現在日本の映画館やNetflixで見ることができる）、さらに漫画やゲームなどのプロダクションも行っています。最近、新しい漫画ラベルを作ったばかりで、ヨーロッパ、日本、アメリカなど、世界規模でコラボレーションを実施していくつもりです」とビスカイは説明した。

SHENMUE III 14 MAR 2019 11:27 AM PDT

SHENMUE III PREVIEW: NEARLY TWO DECADES LATER, STILL A ONE-OF-A-KIND EXPERIENCE

Share. Ryo and Shenmue are back at last.

BY ESRA KRABBE → "Can you open drawers and closets like in the old games?" I asked Yu Suzuki, the man behind the Shenmue series.

"Of course" he said. "It's Shenmue, after all."

That was the moment I realized that Shenmue III SEE DEAL was going to be all I could have hoped for.

"Every time I hold the controller to play the game, it feels like a dream come true," Shenmue III co-producer Cedric Biscay told me. Biscay was originally a fan of the Shenmue series himself, but as the CEO of Shibuya Productions, he was instrumental in helping Yu Suzuki's YsNet fund development of the game, long before the crowdfunding campaign had made Suzuki over $7 million.

Shenmue 3 - Ryo and Master Trailer - MAGIC 2019

Of course, Biscay wants to promote his game, so his comments should be taken with a grain of salt. But when I finally got to see the game, I knew exactly what he meant. With the third installment coming 18 years after the last iteration, Shenmue still isn't for everyone. But for the fans, it indeed looks to be "a dream come true".
